The role of the guardianship organisation, the guardian, and the accommodation

The guardianship organisation

We are Uboard Education, your child's educational guardianship organisation in the United Kingdom.

Our role is to ensure that your child is safe, supported, and properly cared for while studying in the UK. We act as a key point of contact when parents are overseas and provide support with welfare, accommodation, travel arrangements, and emergencies.

We work closely with your child's school and family to ensure effective communication and coordinated care at all times.

The Accommodation

Accommodation provides a safe, comfortable, and supportive environment for students when they are not at school, including during school holidays, half-term breaks, and exeat.

During the holidays, students will be living in our safe and suitable accommodation. We provide accommodation, meals, and a welcoming family environment.

They are responsible for supporting students' wellbeing, supervising them appropriately according to their age, and informing us of any concerns.

The school

The school is responsible for your child's education, academic progress, and pastoral care during term time.

Schools provide a structured and supportive environment, including teaching, boarding care, and wellbeing support. Each school has its own safeguarding systems and designated safeguarding staff. We work closely with schools to support your child and to respond appropriately to any concerns or issues that may arise.

Life in the UK

Living in the UK may be quite different to the life your child is used to. Every country has its own customs and it may take them a while to get used to these. Please do not worry, this is most normal. Here are a few examples of British customs to help you understand what is expected:

Meeting people: Sometimes British people come across as being reserved but usually they are kind, helpful and welcoming of visitors. British people usually greet each other with a handshake and use their title and surname, until being invited to use their first names. For example, when meeting a new contact, they may greet saying “Good morning Mr Harris”. Due to the coronavirus, greetings have changed, and handshakes are not currently being used. A verbal greeting is perfectly acceptable, whilst maintaining social distancing.

Queues: The British people love queues! When waiting their turn, for example in a shop, bank or for public transport, people form a line one behind the other so that they are served in turn. It is considered rude to push in.

Please and thank you: British people greatly appreciate politeness. This means when you would like something you would start a sentence with the word “Please”, for example, “Please may I have a sandwich?” When you have received something, you should always reply with “Thank you”.

Sorry! The British people are often heard to say “Sorry!” This word is used if people accidentally bump into each other or make a mistake. Often people say it even if they were not to blame (for example, a person bumped into them whilst walking in the street).

Mealtimes: It is considered polite to wait for all people at the table to have their meals in front of them before you start to eat. Knives and forks are used to eat the vast majority of main courses, although some British families may use other cutlery to suit the cuisine. Knives and forks are placed together on the plate to indicate that the diner has finished. It is not considered polite to eat with your mouth open or speak whilst eating. Similar to the beginning of the meal, diners usually wait until everyone is finished before leaving the table, and often time is spent having a chat around the table.

What we expect from students whilst staying in accommodation

Uboard Education expects all students to be polite and courteous whilst staying in accommodation. The accommodation is not a hotel, and students are expected to behave respectfully and responsibly throughout their stay.

Students should engage positively with those around them, follow the accommodation rules, join communal mealtimes where applicable, and assist with simple shared responsibilities if requested.

We will explain the house rules and expectations upon arrival. Please do not hesitate to ask if you have any questions.

Student handbook and Student Behaviour Code of Conduct

Uboard Education has a student handbook and student behaviour code of conduct. These include lots of information that will prepare your child for life in the UK. We ask that you go through these with your child so that they are aware of our expectations.

Student finances

Parents usually manage pocket money directly with students.

We can provide guidance where required.

We can also assist in setting up a UK bank account if needed.

Responsibilities during a pandemic

Pandemics can cause major disruption to travel and schooling. It is important in such events that Uboard Education takes advice from the government, the UK Health Security Agency, and the World Health Organisation. AEGIS also provides guidance for members to follow. This is regularly updated as a situation develops. Usually, in a pandemic it is important to restrict movement so as not to spread the disease further. That means boarding school students would usually remain at school. In the event of a pandemic Uboard Education may not be able to offer accommodation for your child as this could place students, accommodation family and the wider community at risk. Uboard Education will work with you to find flights to home countries where required. Uboard Education will work with schools to meet students' needs during a pandemic. This could be by helping to support students to learn remotely as directed by the school. Uboard Education will work with you and your child's school to find suitable quarantine accommodation for students where required. Uboard Education has a policy that outlines the procedures we would follow during a pandemic.
